CPGS Testimonials 2014

"I have worked with Steve for the past two years. In that time, he has provided me with a system and set of guidelines to follow throughout the season. By following Steve's advice I have been able to overcome confidence and consistency issues. I now go into every game fully confident in myself to get the job done and play the best I can. He really cares about what he does; making himself accessible to me every step of the way. He takes the time to develop a trusting relationship not only as a goalie coach, but as a person."

— Nick Deery, Stienbach Pistons MJHL

"Working with Steve Briere and having the opportunity to be a part of the CPGS prospects camp has given me the opportunity to not just improve my game to the highest level possible but also get my name out there by skating in front of numerous NCAA and Junior A coaches and scouts. The combination of challenging off ice workouts with high intensity on ice instruction makes CPGS a great place to train in your off season."

—Zach Zaglevoort, University of Michigan

"I've been working with Steve since his inaugural goalie prospect camp in the spring of 2011. His teaching and mentoring techniques on the ice and off ice allowed me to get better each year as I moved up from AAA to the NAHL, to the USHL and, most recently, my college commitment to Northeastern University. Being a part of Steve's year round goalie coaching program and attending his camps provided me with the opportunity to improve my technical skills, my mental approach to the game, my physical conditioning and all the other necessary skills to be a high end goaltender. I am pleased to recommend Steve as a coach and a mentor. I look forward to keep working with Steve and very thankful for everything he and his camps have done for me."

—Ryan Ruck, Northeastern University

"I have been to Steve Briere's camp for a couple of years and he is one of the reasons why I made NCAA Div. 1 hockey. Steve not only taught me the technical side of the position but also the mental side. He understands what it takes to get to the next level and truly cares about his goalies. Thank you, Steve for helping me get to the next level!"

—Jared D'amico, U of Anchorage Alaska

"Working with Steve has played a huge part in getting me to where I am today. His knowledge for the game is truly amazing. Besides being one of my coaches, Steve and I have developed a great friendship through working together. He truly cares about each of the goalies he works with and definitely makes working with him a great experience. I am very excited to have the chance to continue working with Steve to improve my game!"
